5. Risks of the Funds/Underlying Funds

The risks set out in this section are in relation to the Funds and the Underlying Funds. Given that the Funds feed entirely into the Underlying Funds, it is acknowledged that the risks inherent in the Underlying Funds will also impact the Funds. As such investors should carefully consider the risks set out in this section before investing into the Funds.

Investors should consider and satisfy themselves as to the risks of investing in the Funds. Investment in the Funds is meant to produce returns over the long-term. It may not be possible to obtain short-term gains from such investments.

Investors should be aware that the price of units in the Funds, and the income from them, may fall or rise and investors may not get back their original investment. The default in payment by an issuer of any instrument held by the respective Underlying Fund may affect the Underlying Fund's ability to meet its payment obligations to the relevant Fund. No guarantee is given, expressed or implied, that investors will receive back any amount invested.

All investments involve risks and there can be no guarantee against loss resulting from an investment in any units, nor can there be any assurance that the Funds' investment objective will be attained in respect of its overall performance. Investors should therefore ensure (prior to any investment being made) that they are satisfied with the risk profile of the overall objective disclosed.

5.1 General Risks

The risk disclosures included in this section are intended to summarise some of the general risks associated with investments in the Underlying Funds, but they are not exhaustive and do not constitute or purport to offer advice on the suitability of investments in the Underlying Funds.

General Risks Associated with an Investment in the Underlying Funds

The value of the Underlying Funds may rise or fall. Investments in the Underlying Funds are subject to various risks such as market risks, fluctuations in interest rates and foreign exchange rates, political instability, exchange controls, changes in taxation and foreign investment policies and other restrictions and controls which may be imposed by the relevant authorities in other countries. The risk factors set out herein may cause you to lose some or all of your investment. These risks are elaborated upon below.

A. Market Risk

The usual risks of investing in listed and unlisted securities apply. Prices of securities may rise or fall in response to changes in economic conditions, political conditions, interest rates, and market sentiment. These may cause the price of Units in the Underlying Funds to go up or down as the price of Units is based on the current market value of the investments of the Underlying Funds.

B. Political Risk

Underlying Funds that invest in countries with less stable political and economic environments and in securities' markets with lower levels of regulation and different accounting, commercial and market practices than those of acceptable international standards are likely to increase the overall risk of the Underlying Funds.

C. Liquidity Risk

The securities markets of some countries lack the liquidity, efficiency, regulatory and supervisory controls of more developed markets. The lack of liquidity may adversely affect the value or ease of disposal of assets, thereby increasing the risk of investing in such markets.

D. Settlement Risk/Transactions Risk

The property of the Underlying Funds is held by the Trustee on behalf of the Holders, separate from the Trustee's assets. It is therefore protected in the event of the insolvency of the Trustee. There is, however, still a risk that there may be a temporary delay in subscriptions and redemptions of the Units.

E. Regulatory Risk

The investment objectives and parameters of the Underlying Funds are restricted by applicable legislation and regulatory guidelines. There may be a risk that legislative or regulatory changes may make it less likely for the Underlying Funds to achieve its objectives.

F. Currency Risk/Exchange Rate Risk

The assets and income of the Underlying Funds will be substantially denominated in currencies other than the Singapore dollar. Currency fluctuations between foreign currencies and the Singapore dollar may affect the income and valuation of the assets of the relevant Underlying Funds in ways unrelated to business performance. Investors should note that the Investment Manager generally does not hedge the currency positions of the Underlying Funds unless circumstances require it and/or as mentioned in the Prospectus of the Underlying Fund.

G. Taxation

Investors should note that the proceeds from the sale of securities in some markets or the receipt of any dividends or other income may be or may become subject to tax, levies, duties or other fees or charges imposed by the authorities in that market, including taxation levied by withholding at source. Tax law and practice in certain countries into which the Underlying Funds invests or may invest in the future (in particular Russia and other emerging markets) is not clearly established. It is possible therefore that the current interpretation of the law or understanding of practice might change, or that the law might be changed with retrospective effect. It is therefore possible that the Underlying Funds could become subject to additional taxation in such countries that is not anticipated either at the date of this Fund Information Booklet or when investments are made, valued or disposed of.

H. Repurchase or Securities Lending Agreements

While the value of the collateral of repurchase or securities lending agreements will exceed the value of the securities transferred, if there is a sudden market movement there is a risk that the value of such collateral may fall below the value of the securities transferred.

In relation to repurchase transactions, investors should note that (A) if the counterparty with which cash of the Underlying Funds has been placed has failed, there is the risk that collateral received may yield less than the cash placed out, whether because of inaccurate pricing of the collateral, adverse market movements, a deterioration in the credit rating of issuers of the collateral, or the illiquidity of the market in which the collateral is traded; that (B) (i) locking cash in transactions of excessive size or duration, (ii) delays in recovering cash placed out, or (iii) difficulty in realising collateral may restrict the ability of the Underlying Funds to meet redemption requests, security purchases or, more generally, reinvestment; and that (C) repurchase transactions will, as the case may be, further expose the Underlying Funds to risks similar to those associated with optional or forward derivative financial instruments, which risks are further described in other sections of this Fund Information Booklet. Securities lending involves counterparty risk, including the risk that the loaned securities may not be returned or returned in a timely manner and/or at a loss of rights in the collateral if the borrower or the lending agent defaults or fails financially. This risk is increased when the Underlying Funds' loans are concentrated with a single or limited number of borrowers. Investors must notably be aware that (A) if the borrower of securities lent by the Underlying Funds fail to return these, there is a risk that the collateral received may realise less than the value of the securities lent out, whether due to inaccurate pricing, adverse market movements, a deterioration in the credit rating of issuers of the collateral, or the illiquidity of the market in which the collateral is traded; that (B) in case of reinvestment of cash collateral such reinvestment may (i) create leverage with corresponding risks and risk of losses and volatility, (ii) introduce market exposures inconsistent with the objectives of the Underlying Funds, or (iii) yield a sum less than the amount of collateral to be returned; and that (C) delays in the return of securities on loans may restrict the ability of the Underlying Funds to meet delivery obligations under security sales.

I. Derivative Usage

The Underlying Funds may use financial derivative instruments for the purposes of hedging and/or efficient portfolio management to the extent permitted in the Trust Deed. In no event are financial derivative instruments used to lever the Underlying Funds.

Total Derivatives Exposure

The Investment Manager will ensure for the Underlying Funds that its exposure relating to financial derivative instruments does not exceed the total net value of its portfolio. The Investment Manager will ensure that the global exposure of the Underlying Funds to financial derivative instruments or embedded financial derivative instruments will not exceed 100% of the net asset value of the Underlying Funds at all times. Such exposure will be calculated using the commitment approach as described in, and in accordance with the provisions of, the Code on Collective Investment Schemes.

Execution of Trades

An automated trading system provides for the capture of orders from the fund manager for transmission to an independent dealing function which facilitates management of the dealing process and, once executed, onward transmission to the back office trade processing function. It is used for the execution of fixed and equity securities, exchange-traded derivatives and OTC derivatives (as defined in paragraph (J) below).

Investors should note that there are risks associated with the use of such financial derivative instruments. Some of the risks associated with financial derivative instruments include market risk (described in paragraph (A)), liquidity risk (described in paragraph (C)) and counterparty risk (described in paragraph (J)). Therefore, it is essential that investments in financial derivative instruments are monitored closely.

Description of Risk Management and Investment Control Procedure Adopted by the Investment Manager

An electronic guideline monitoring system, which is integrated within the trading platform, gives pre-deal alerts to fund managers and post-deal exception reports to the Investment Control Department in respect of actual and potential breaches of investment restrictions. This includes total derivatives exposure and counterparty exposure. Such system is maintained independently of the fund managers by the Investment Control Department. Monitoring for derivatives and physical assets takes place on a pre-trade basis.

The Investment Manager will ensure that the risk management and investment control procedures adopted are adequate and have been implemented and that it has the necessary expertise to control and manage the risks relating to the use of financial derivatives.

In the event the Underlying Funds net its OTC derivative positions, such netting arrangements shall satisfy the relevant conditions described in the Code, including obtaining the legal opinions as stipulated in the Code.

J. Counterparty Risk

In some markets there may be no secure method of delivery against payment which would avoid credit risk exposure to a counterparty. Each Underlying Fund may enter into transactions and other contracts that entail a credit exposure to certain counterparties. To the extent that a counterparty defaults on its obligation and the Underlying Funds are delayed or prevented from exercising its rights with respect to the investments in its portfolio, it may experience a decline in the value of its position, a loss of income and possible additional costs associated with asserting its rights.

Where financial instruments are dealt in over-the-counter markets (“OTC”), it may be necessary to make payment on a purchase or delivery on a sale before receipt of the securities or, as the case may be, sale proceeds.

Subject to the provisions of the Code on Collective Investment Schemes:

- (a) the risk exposure of the Underlying Funds to a counterparty in an OTC derivative transaction may not exceed 10% of its net assets when the counterparty is a credit institution, which has its registered office in a country which is a EU Member State or if the registered office of the credit institution is situated in a non-EU Member State provided that it is subject to prudential rules equivalent to those in EU Member States
- (b) the Underlying Funds are restricted to dealing with OTC derivative counterparties, which are rated between AAA and A- (S&P/Fitch) or Aaa and A3 (Moody's) for non-collateralised business counterparties, or between AAA and BBB+ (S&P/ Fitch) or Aaa and Baa1 (Moody's) for collateralised business counterparties, or such ratings as may be allowed by the Code, as amended from time to time.

Where multiple external ratings are available, the following is taken into account:

- (I) if there are any differences between ratings, the lowest published rating is used; Where the counterparty is not rated by multiple external rating agencies, the following is taken into account :
- (II) if there is only one or less external rating available (Fitch, S&P, Moody's), then the full financial statements of the counterparty is to be provided by the front office and reviewed by the counterparty credit risk team in order to formulate a credit opinion and an internal rating. The counterparty will then be brought to the relevant Oversight Committee for final credit sanctioning.

Where financial instruments are dealt on cash “delivery versus payment” type transactions (DVP), there is a replacement risk if the counterparty is unable to deliver the securities or the cash to the Underlying Funds. The Underlying Funds are restricted to dealing with DVP Cash brokerage counterparties, which are rated between AAA and BBB- (S&P/Fitch) or Aaa and Baa3 (Moody's). If there no external ratings available at all (Fitch, S&P, Moody's), then the full financial statements of the counterparty is to be provided by the front office and reviewed by the counterparty credit risk team in order to formulate a credit opinion and an internal rating.

K. Capacity Restrictions

There is a possibility that the Underlying Fund may be closed to new subscriptions or switches into such Underlying Fund without prior notice to its holders in certain circumstances, for instance, where the Underlying Funds have reached a size such that the capacity of the market and/or the capacity of the relevant Investment Manager has been reached, and where to permit further inflows would be detrimental to the performance of the Underlying Fund. In such case, the Investment Manager may also need to restrict or close new subscriptions or switches into the Underlying Funds.

L. Risk of using rating agencies and other third parties

Credit ratings of instruments invested into by an Underlying Fund represent our and/or rating agencies' opinion regarding the credit quality of the instrument or the institution and are not a guarantee of quality. Rating methodologies generally rely on historical data, which may not be predictive of future trends and adjustments to credit ratings in response to subsequent changes in circumstances may take time. When a debt security is rated, the downgrading of such debt security could decrease the value and liquidity of the security.

The Investment Manager does not solely rely on ratings issued by credit rating agencies. We carry out detailed credit assessments on every company we cover and use the input from credit rating agencies where appropriate. We have established a set of internal credit assessment standards and have put in place a credit assessment process to ensure that the relevant Underlying Fund's investments are in line with these standards.

The risk disclosures included in this section are intended to summarise some of the general risks associated with an investment in the Underlying Funds, but they are not exhaustive and do not constitute or purport to offer advice on the suitability of investments in the Underlying Fund.

- (a) Investments in the Underlying Funds are designed to produce returns over the long-term and are not suitable for short-term speculation. Investors should not expect to obtain short-term gains from such investment.
- (b) Investors should be aware that the price of Units in the Underlying Funds and the income of the Underlying Funds may fall or rise. Holders may not get back their original investment.

5.2 Specific Risk Associated with an Investment in the Underlying Funds

In addition to the general risk factors set out above, potential investors should be aware of specific risks associated with investments in the Underlying Funds as set out below:

(i) Aberdeen Standard Singapore Equity Fund

Exposure to a single country market increases potential volatility because the concentration in a single country market makes it less diversified compared to an exposure to specific regional or global markets

(ii) Aberdeen Standard India Opportunities Fund

Exposure to a single country market increases potential volatility because the concentration in a single country market makes it less diversified compared to an exposure to specific regional or global markets

Exposure to emerging markets increases potential volatility in your portfolio as emerging markets tend to be more volatile than mature markets and the value of underlying investments could move sharply up or down. In some circumstances, the underlying investments may become illiquid which may constrain the Investment Manager's or the relevant Underlying Funds' investment managers' ability to realise some or all of the assets. The registration and settlement arrangements in emerging markets may be less developed than in more mature markets so the operational risks of investing in emerging markets are also higher. In addition, the legal, judicial and regulatory infrastructures in emerging markets are still developing and political risks and adverse economic circumstances are also more likely to arise.

On 29 March 2017 the United Kingdom submitted a notification of its intention to withdraw from the European Union. This means that the United Kingdom will potentially no longer be a Member State of the European Union with effect from 30 March 2019. Depending on the outcome of the negotiations with the United Kingdom on the withdrawal agreement, there may be impacts on the structure and the operations of the Underlying Funds.

For efficient portfolio management purposes, a wholly-owned Mauritian subsidiary (the "Subsidiary") is utilised by Aberdeen Standard SICAV I to hold all the investments of the Aberdeen Standard SICAV I – Indian Equity Fund, into which the Aberdeen Standard India Opportunities Fund feeds.

The sub-Investment Manager of the Aberdeen Standard SICAV I – Indian Equity Fund and the management and control of the Subsidiary are located in Singapore, a jurisdiction which has a developed infrastructure to support such vehicles encompassing the full range of administration and custody services in a time zone which is closer to that of India. The place of management and control of the Subsidiary along with the location of the sub-investment manager are aligned in Singapore. This is likely to benefit the Subsidiary from a risk and control perspective, and will allow the Subsidiary to benefit from large pool of resources that are already available in Singapore. If it is no longer commercially beneficial to invest through the Subsidiary, Aberdeen Standard SICAV I – Indian Equity Fund may elect to invest directly in India or through another suitable vehicle in any jurisdiction.

The change in the tax residence of the Subsidiary from Mauritius to Singapore was effected on 29 May 2015.

With regard to the India-Singapore tax treaty, there can be no assurance that any future changes to the treaty or future interpretations of the tax treaty will not adversely affect the tax position of the Subsidiary's investments in India.

Should the India-Singapore tax treaty not be applied, capital gains earned by the Subsidiary would be subject to tax as per the domestic tax laws of India applicable to Foreign Portfolio Investors. Accordingly, where the treaty is not applied the income of the Subsidiary would be subject to tax in India at a rate ranging from 10% to 30% (subject to grandfathering provisions for long term capital gains) depending on the nature of income and the period for which the securities have been held.

Please note that some of the Underlying Funds may make use of financial derivative instruments (please refer to Appendix A of the Underlying Entity's Prospectus for more information).

The above 5.1 and 5.2 should not be considered to be an exhaustive list of the risks which potential investor should consider before investing into any Fund(s). Investors should be aware that an investment in the particular Fund(s) may be exposed to other risks of an exceptional nature from time to time.

Schedule 1 – PRULink Singapore Growth Fund

I. Structure

The PRULink Singapore Growth Fund is classified as a Specified Investment Product. The Fund was launched on 5 July 2010. It is a single fund that invests its assets into the Aberdeen Standard Singapore Equity Fund. The Investment Manager of the Underlying Fund is Aberdeen Standard Investments (Asia) Limited.

BNP Paribas Securities Services (operating through its Singapore branch) is the custodian of the Aberdeen Standard Singapore Equity Fund.

The Fund is included under the CPF Investment Scheme – Ordinary Account and has a risk classification of higher risk; narrowly focused. It is suited to an investor with a medium to long-term investment horizon.

The benchmark for this Fund is the Straits Times Index.

II. Investment Objective

The Fund aims to provide investors with medium to long-term capital growth from a portfolio of Singapore equities.

III. Investment approach of the Underlying Fund

The PRULink Singapore Growth Fund and the Aberdeen Standard Singapore Equity Fund share the same investment focus and approach.

The Investment Manager believes that company fundamentals drive stock prices in the long term. However, there are inefficiencies in the way companies are valued in the short term as their stock prices are prey to sentiment and factors other than fundamentals. Therefore, our view is that careful research is the key to delivering insights that allow us to exploit these inefficiencies.

We believe that comprehensive assessment of environmental, social and governance (“ESG”) factors, combined with constructive company engagement, leads to better client outcomes. Material ESG risks and opportunities are considered before investment for all equity funds that are actively managed. ESG assessment does not result in the exclusion of companies based upon their sector or their involvement in any particular activity unless specific criteria are applied to an Underlying Fund, which will be stated in that fund’s Investment Objective and Focus.

Our extensive research capability allows for the provision of an investment approach which we describe as “Long Term Quality”.

Long Term Quality

For the Underlying Funds, which utilise the Long Term Quality equity investment approach, we view that long term returns are achieved by investing in high-quality businesses at attractive valuations and hold them for the long term. An estimate of a company’s worth is analysed in two stages, assessing quality then value. Long Term Quality portfolios are subject to limited constraints relative to any internal benchmark. In addition, such approach may be subject to values-led criteria, such as ethical, Sustainable and Responsible Investing (“SRI”) or impact investing, such criteria being outlined in the Investment strategy of the relevant Sub-Fund. Investment strategies that employ such values led investing may be subject to company exclusions based upon a specific sector or their involvement in a particular activity, and/or may involve the active selection of companies based on their positive impact.

IV. Product Suitability

The Fund is only suitable for investors who:

- seek capital growth over the medium to long term period
- understand the risks involved in investing in Singapore equities
- understand that it offers no capital protection or guarantees
