Investment Strategy
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The Manager's Fixed Income teams' investment approach is based on the following beliefs: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Investment style based on fundamental, valuation and technical analyses ○ Medium-term investment horizon ○ Investment opportunities are created by identifying cyclical extremities in interest rates and credit spreads ○ Value opportunities arise due to shifts in investor risk perception, resulting in the mispricing of assets relative to fundamentals • A four-stage fixed income investment process is employed, which combines both top-down and bottom-up investment analyses to identify value opportunities: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Investment Outlook & Fair Value Analysis Macroeconomic and market research is undertaken to determine the investment outlook and ascertain the fair value of the interest rate, credit and currency markets. 2. The team aims to provide value-added returns from three main sources: First, Bond Market Allocation & Duration Strategy; Second, Credit Strategy; Third, Currency Strategy 3. Portfolio Construction The team takes into consideration the quantitative and fundamental work done in the earlier steps to construct a portfolio in line with the duration/yield curve, sector, credit and currency risk preferences of the team, as well as the fund's investment objectives. 4. Risk Control and Review Risk control parameters are established at the inception of the portfolio and portfolios under management are reviewed regularly, keeping in mind the overall risk characteristics with respect to duration, curve neutrality and credit concentration. 	Refer to Sch 2, Sec III – Investment Focus, Approach and Process of the FIB for further information on Investment Strategy.
