KEY FEATURES OF THE ILP SUB-FUND

WHAT ARE YOU INVESTING IN?

The investment objective of the ILP Sub-Fund is to achieve long term capital appreciation through investment directly or indirectly in quoted equities, bonds and other fixed income securities in global markets. The Fund will invest in multiple asset classes and will be comprised of an actively managed basket of equities, fixed income, property and commodities related securities.

It is the Investment Manager’s present intention to invest the assets of the Underlying Fund into various sub-funds of the Schroder International Selection Fund (the “Schroder ISF”) and other collective investment schemes and exchange traded funds (collectively known as “Underlying Entities”).

Refer to Sec 6 – Investment Objective of the FIB for further information on features of the ILP Sub-Fund.

Investment Strategy
The ILP Sub-Fund shares the same investment strategy as the Underlying Fund as it feeds into the Underlying Fund. The Investment Manager adopts an active management approach that is focused on creating a truly diversified investment portfolio outcome for the Underlying Fund's investors. Unlike traditional balanced funds that simply focus on tactically allocating between defensive and growth assets, depending on the risk profile of the Underlying Fund and the Investment Manager's relative view of such asset classes, the Investment Manager recognises that between defensive assets and growth assets, there are a range of assets that can contribute to a combination of better returns and lower risk in a portfolio. These asset classes warrant consideration. Additionally, the Investment Manager recognises that over time, traditional defensive and growth asset classes may behave in a similar fashion and therefore may not always provide investors with a diversified portfolio outcome. By considering a broad range of asset classes, sub-asset classes and investment styles, the Manager attempts to increase the probability of achieving the investment objective in a consistent manner, over the long term.	Refer to Sec 7 – Investment Focus and Approach of the Investment Manager of the FIB for further information on Investment Strategy.

Product-Specific Risks

- You are exposed to equity risk.
 - The Underlying Fund may invest in stocks and other equity securities and their derivatives which are subject to market risks that historically have resulted in greater price volatility than that experienced by bonds and other fixed income securities.
- You are exposed to interest rate risk.
 - Deposits in financial institutions and investments in bonds, debentures, loan stocks, convertibles and other debt securities may decline in value if interest rates change. In general, the prices of debt securities rise when interest rates fall, and fall when interest rates rise.
- You are exposed to emerging market securities risk.
 - While the Underlying Fund will invest substantially in developed markets, it may also invest in emerging market securities such as Asian bonds and equities which may involve certain considerations not typically associated with investing in securities listed on the major securities markets in developed countries.
- You are exposed to derivatives risk.
 - The Underlying Fund may use or invest in derivatives. The use of futures, options, warrants, forwards, swaps or swap options involves increased risks. The Underlying Fund's ability to use such derivatives successfully depends on the Investment Manager's ability to accurately predict movements in stock prices, interest rates, currency exchange rates or other economic factors and the availability of liquid markets. If the Investment Manager's predictions are wrong, or if the derivatives do not work as anticipated, the Underlying Fund could suffer greater losses than if the Underlying Fund had not used the derivatives.

Refer to Sec 4 – Risks of the Fund and Underlying Fund of the FIB for further information on risks of the ILP Sub-Fund.
